

Tunnel vision: natural gas projects like the Nord Stream 2 pipeline have been criticised as short-sighted by environmentalists.

A new challenge: finding the best way forward for ageing wind turbines is a growing concern for service companies.

Hard choices: George Frampton discusses the energy transition in the US vs. Europe.

COVER STORY

- 18 | Bridge or barrier?
Although relatively clean – at least compared to coal – natural gas is still a fossil fuel, and its long-term use is difficult to reconcile with the goals set out in the Paris Agreement on climate change. Is the current state of investment in pipelines and terminals misguided?
- 24 | Reinventing gas
Gas turbines offer a remarkably efficient and flexible form of energy generation. They could have a key role to play in the energy system of the future – if researchers can tweak them to run on clean alternatives like hydrogen.

This year's edition of the BWE Service Survey reveals a slight dip in scores as a new challenge looms on the horizon.
- 42 | Crash tests in the ice tank
Trials at the Hamburg Ship Model Basin simulate the effects of sea ice on turbine monopiles to optimise their structural design.
