COVER STORY

- 10 | Bursting the bubble
20 September was a day of contradictions. As thousands of demonstrators took part in record-breaking climate protests, hopes of a sea change were dashed by the German government's disappointing new climate package.
- 14 | No surprises
Despite a few positive messages, the UN climate summit in New York failed to secure meaningful commitments from the polluters that matter the most.
- 16 | "It felt like a slap in the face,"
...say Fridays for Future activists Pauline Daemgen and Ragna Diederichs of the German government's climate package.

- 22 | A new hurdle for German wind
Rather than give the industry a much-needed boost, the new government package deals a heavy blow to Germany's wind sector with its minimum distance rule.

COUNTRY MARKETS

- 27 | News: Glasgow to host COP26, Switzerland pledges climate neutrality, drone protests at Heathrow.
- 28 | Floating solar
Countries around the world are experimenting with waterborne PV. Germany is one of them.

BUSINESS

- 33 | News: Nestlé promises action on climate, green light for Eon/RWE deal, upheaval for German wind companies.
- 34 | Risky investments
A new study shows that the business decisions of energy giants are putting climate targets – and their own bottom line – at risk.

TECHNOLOGIES

- 35 | News: Emissions from scientific conferences examined, new system for offshore turbine monitoring, solar roof for cars.
- 36 | Cleaner shipping
In a bid to bring down emissions, innovative ship designs are replacing diesel with LNG, fuel cells or simply the power of the wind.

ENERGY PEOPLE
